

Chloe, who stutters, sees Boomer struggling to yip. She asks, "Nana, why can't he y-yip like his sisters?"

Boomer yips his plan to outsmart Peanut the Chihuahua, the bully in their obedience school, into Hoppy's ear. Hoppy yips back, "I wish I'd thought of that, 'cause you've got a slam dunk here."

*Nana Weathers gives Boomer his first yip lesson. She tells him,
"Find your balance over each paw and hold your head and nose up.
Remember to take a good breath before each pitch you yip."*